New Leaders Wanted: Now Hiring!

Description of content: ISBN 978-1-905776-02-3

There is a clear disconnect in business between the sense that business today (the 'current-future') is very different from the past and the types of people and skills that companies are still looking for when recruiting or training people within the organization.

This book maps 12 kinds of unconventional - by old standards - people who can make all the difference in today's organizations. These are people who have abilities that have perhaps been considered secondary in the past, but who can literally 'make or break' the success of a company today.

An example of this is the one described as 'reconstructors of elephants': people with 'synthesis skills', who are able to see the big picture as opposed to the classical quest for 'analytical skills'.
